13. Security for Gas Bills: Security deposits or other guarantee of payment may be required of prospective customers in accordance with and subject to the provisions of Rule 20 of these Rules and Regulations. Interest on these deposits will be computed as stipulated with the Consumer Standards and Billing Practices set forth by the Michigan Public Service Commission.
When service is terminated, the deposit with interest due shall be credited against the final account, and the balance, if any, shall be returned to the customer.
When the customer's credit shall have been satisfactorily established, the deposit and interest due will be returned to the customer, or if other guarantee has been furnished, such guarantee shall be released.

For residential customers, a normal billing "month" shall be a utility service consumption period of not less than 26 nor more than 35 days.
Whenever, for any reason, the meter is not read at the end of a given monthly period, the Company may render an estimated interim bill. An estimated bill will, under ordinary conditions, be based upon past service records or other available service data. The Company will not render an estimated billing more frequently than every other month, unless a different frequency is approved by the commission.
Any bill rendered on an estimated basis will be clearly and conspicuously identified as such.
Any customer who does not desire to receive an estimated interim bill will, upon request to the Company, be supplied with forms upon which the reading of the customer's meter or meters may be recorded. Such readings will, if received in time for normal billing purposes, be used in the computation of the interim bills of such customer.
If the Company is unable to gain access to read a meter, the Company will undertake reasonable alternative measures to obtain an actual reading, including mailing or leaving post-paid preaddressed post cards upon which the customer may note the reading. If the customer fails to comply with such alternative measures, or makes reading of the meter unnecessarily difficult, the Company may render an estimated bill notwithstanding any other provisions of this rule.

A $25.00 charge will be assessed to customers for handling checks received and returned by banks for reasons of insufficient funds, bank account closed, no account, and similar situations. This charge will become part of the customer's arrears and will be subject to the same provisions applicable thereto. A charge of $20.00 will be levied upon a customer where it is necessary for the Company to send an employee to the premises of the customer in order to collect that customer's bill. This charge will become part of the customer's arrears and will be subject to the same provisions applicable thereto.   3. The Company is not required to enter into a subsequent settlement agreement with a customer who defaulted on the terms and conditions of an agreement within the last 2 years
  4. If the customer and the Company reach a settlement agreement following a notice of shutoff, the failure of the customer to abide by the terms of the settlement agreement during the first 60 days of the agreement constitutes a waiver of the notice required by sub-rule (A) of this rule.

Q. Same Dispute

The Company may disregard a customer complaint or dispute that involves the same question or issue based upon the same facts, and is not required to comply with these rules more than once before shutoff of service.

R. Emergency Shutoff

Notwithstanding any other provision of these rules, the Company may shut off service temporarily for reasons of health or safety or in a state or national emergency. When the Company shuts off service for reasons of health or safety, the Company shall leave a notice with the customer stating that service was shut off for emergency reasons.

S. Restoration of Service/Transfer Fees

21. Main Extensions:

A. General:

The Company reserves the right to make extension of its gas mains from time to time to serve prospective customers whose gas requirements will not, in the judgement of the Company, disturb or impair gas service to existing customers. Extensions may be made either (1) at the initiative of the Company or (2) in the case of application by a prospective customer or customers, in accordance with and subject to the following provisions of this rule.

B. Main Extensions Pursuant to Customer Application:

1. Upon application or inquiry by a prospective customer or customers for an extension of the Company's mains, the Company will make the requested main extension at Company expense if, in the judgment of the Company, the gas requirements of the prospective customer or customers will not disturb or impair gas service to existing customers and the estimated annual revenues there from reasonable warrant the capital expenditure required.
2. If upon application by a prospective customer or customers for an expansion of the Company's mains, the Company determines that the gas requirements of the prospective customer or customers will not disturb or impair gas service to existing customers, but that the estimated capital expenditure required exceeds three times the estimated annual net revenue (estimated annual gross revenue less cost of gas) there from, the Company may, as a condition of making the requested extensions, require the prospective customer or customers to make a monetary contribution in aid of construction, not to exceed the difference between the estimated cost of the requested extension and three times the estimated annual net revenue.

22. Limitations On Availability Of Service:

- A. During periods in which the total demands for natural gas exceed available supplies, the public interest requires that the sale of gas for new uses be controlled in a manner which will provide the greatest good for the greatest number of people. Gas must not be dissipated by uncontrolled new sales for inferior uses, but rather, must be conserved for sale for the most necessary and desirable purposes. Consequently, gas service under all applicable rate schedules of the Company shall be subject to control and limitation pursuant to the provisions of this rule notwithstanding anything to the contrary that may appear elsewhere in these Rules and Regulations or in the Company's rate schedules.

The Company may limit or deny firm gas service to new customers and to existing customers requesting additional gas when the Company concludes that it is necessary to do so to conserve the Company's gas supply for higher priority service. Such limitation or denial will be imposed in a uniform manner in accordance with the end use to be made of the gas, with inferior uses being controlled first. For control purposes, the following categories of use are hereby established, of which Category Six constitutes the lowest priority use and Category One the highest priority use:

CATEGORY ONE

The use of natural gas by any residential or commercial customer for any purpose except space heating or space heating and air conditioning, including, but not limited to , incinerators and gas fired after burners to limit or abate obnoxious odors or air pollution.

CATEGORY TWO

The use of natural gas by any residential customer for space heating or for space heating and air conditioning in addition to the other uses referred to in Category One.

CATEGORY THREE-A

The use of natural gas by any industrial customer for industrial processing together with space heating, or in gas fired after burners to limit or abate obnoxious odors or air pollution, where natural gas is the only feasible form of energy which can be utilized and where failure to obtain adequate supplies of natural gas for such purposes would impair operations by such customers.

CATEGORY THREE-B

The use of natural gas by any existing commercial or industrial customer (excluding steam or electric generation by utilities) for the correction of air or water pollution problems where the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission or the Michigan Water Resources Commission has notified such customer that it is violating air or water pollution control standards and regulations, and it is established that other fuels are not feasible for use. Upon receipt of such notice from the appropriate commission, a customer desiring gas for such use shall file an application for gas service pursuant to this rule.

CATEGORY FOUR

The use of natural gas by any customer for central space heating or for space heating and air conditioning in commercial buildings, publicly owned buildings and structures, and facilities operated by educational, charitable and nonprofit institutions for the public good.

CATEGORY FIVE

The use of natural gas for all other purposes except for the generation of steam and electricity by utilities, or for the operation of kilns which can be fired by other fuels.

CATEGORY SIX

The use of natural gas for the generation of steam or electricity by utilities, and the firing of kilns.

Notwithstanding the provisions of the foregoing categories, the Commission shall have jurisdiction to consider gas service for any customer who has a pollution problem which presents an unusual threat to the public health and welfare and the use of natural gas offers the only feasible solution to the problem. The matter of such service will be considered by the Commission pursuant to its Rules and Practice relating to petitions or complaints and, after public notice and hearing, the Commission may, if it shall find that the public interest will be served thereby, assign a priority of use to such customer which is higher than that to which the customer would otherwise be entitled.

Applicants will be attached within each category on a “first come-first served” basis.

Existing firm service customers who wish to connect additional gas burning equipment or new and existing firm service customers seeking service at new locations, except those seeking gas for residential use or for single family space heating use, must make written application for such service on a form to be provided by the Company. All such service shall require prior approval of the Company, which shall be in writing except with respect to service for residential use or for single family space heating use. Such approval shall be entirely within the discretion of the Company, subject to the following limitations.

- a) During a period of curtailment under Rule No. 23, or during a period when Category Two is being curtailed under Rule No. 24, no attachments of additional gas-burning equipment by existing customers or the addition of new customers in any category will be permitted.

- b) During a period of any curtailment under Rule No 24, no attachment of any additional gas-burning equipment or any new customer classified with in a category then being curtailed will be permitted. If the Company continues to attach new customers during a period of curtailment under Rule No. 24, then it will file with the Commission supply and demand forecasts which support the continued attachment of new customers.

Applications will specify the time within which service must be commenced, and no firm commitment to serve any applicant will be made until the applicant has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Company that the applicant is ready to proceed, in a timely manner, with the construction and installation of the necessary facilities. In the event that the installation of such facilities is not completed and service commenced by the date specified in the application, said approved application shall be void.

Applications for new or additional gas service which are not initially approved by the Company under this program shall be kept on file by category and date application is received. As the available gas supply permits, applications on file will be approved in accordance with category and date of filing. Any applicant whose application for gas service is thus approved shall notify the Company in writing, within 30 days after the date of notice of approval, of the applicant's intention to accept gas service; otherwise such approved application shall be void.

From time to time the Company may have volumes of gas available to it which, in its judgment. Should not be permanently disposed of for lower priority uses, but should be available for future sale for more essential uses. Such volumes of gas may be sold by the Company for any purpose under contracts limited as to time and volume, thus preserving such volumes for ultimate sale for essential uses.

The Company reserves the right to discontinue service to any customer who violates any of the provisions of this rule.

23. Curtailment of Gas Service for Emergency

If in the event of an emergency such as extreme cold weather, loss or reduction of gas supplies, damage to facilities, or other cause, the Company determines that its supply of gas or its ability to supply gas may diminish to the point where continuous service to its customers is threatened, the Company shall have the right to curtail the distribution of gas to its firm commercial and industrial customers, irrespective of the contracts in force, after initiating interruptions of gas service permitted in accordance with applicable rate schedules.

M.P.S.C. NO. 2 -GAS

Original Sheet No. 7.36

AURORA GAS COMPANY
ONAWAY, MICHIGAN

The curtailment of service shall apply to all firm commercial and industrial customers consuming annual volumes of firm gas equal to or greater than ten million cubic feet. For purposes of determining those customers subject to curtailment under this rule, the following criteria shall be applied by the Company:

- a) “Commercial customers” shall include all customers which consume gas for use other than those involving manufacturing or electric power generation and are engaged primarily in the furnishing or sale of goods or services, including local, state and federal government agencies and other public or private institutions, but excluding schools and buildings used for permanent or transient residence.
- b) “Industrial customers” shall include all customers engaged primarily in a process which creates or changes raw or unfinished materials into another form or product including the generation of electric power.
- c) In order to determine the annual volumes of firm gas consumed by its commercial and industrial customers, the Company shall determine the gas used during the preceding calendar year for all buildings, parts of buildings and equipment associated with each customer’s gas billing in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Company.

If a curtailment becomes necessary, the Company shall at once notify all such firm commercial and industrial customers of the nature and extent of such curtailment and the amount of gas estimated to be available during the period of the curtailment.

The total curtailment shall equal the deficiency of gas brought about by the demands of all firm customers in the Company’s system during the period of curtailment. Such curtailment shall be prorated, so gas as practicable, on a uniform percentage basis of the normal requirements of each commercial and industrial customer subject to this rule, unless the curtailment of such customer would endanger public health and safety or plant protection as defined in paragraphs I (8) & (9) of Rule No. 24, in which case the Company shall make such adjustments as it may deem appropriate.

The normal requirements of each commercial and industrial customer curtailed shall be considered to refer to the volume of gas taken by the customer in the same month occurring one year prior to the month in which the customer is to be curtailed. In those instances where the customer’s consumption of gas in the same month of he prior year does not fairly represent normal operation of the customer’s facility or facilities, the Company may make reasonable adjustments to normalize the customer’s load.

Prior to or during the period of curtailment, curtailed customers may make written application to utilize the aggregate of any remaining volumes of natural gas not curtailed, for any end uses at any of their facilities within the Company's service area, provided that such use is not in violation of any existing contracts and delivery of such volumes is within the capability of the Company's facilities. If, after filing said application, a customer consumes more gas for a curtailed use than would otherwise be available, the volumes in excess of those otherwise available shall be filled at the rate or rates applicable to the use from which such gas is diverted.

A customer shall not be liable for any part of a monthly service charge provided in a rate schedule if such customer's consumption under that rate is completely curtailed for the entire billing period. No other rate adjustments will be permitted.

During a period when a curtailment has been instituted pursuant to this rule, any gas used by a customer in excess of the volumes authorized shall be subject to excess use charges, with such charges being in addition to those normal charges made under the applicable rate schedules. Charges for such excess usage shall be equal to five times the applicable rate schedule commodity charge at the time of the excess use violation. Failure to pay an excess use charge when rendered shall subject the customer to termination of gas service.

The Company reserves the right to inspect the customer's equipment, to install special metering, and to immediately terminate gas service for violations of this rule. Once gas service is terminated, the Company may withhold gas service until it is satisfied that the terms and conditions of this rule will be observed.

The Company shall have discretion subject to review by the Commission to determine whether a reduction in the supply of gas to its system requires a curtailment of gas service for emergency under the provisions of this Rule No. 23 or a curtailment for gas supply deficiency under the provisions of Rule No. 24. Curtailment under Rule No. 23 shall not exceed 18 months duration.

Nothing in this rule shall prevent a customer from challenging the continuation of a curtailment or abridge the customer's right to appeal any such determination to the Commission.

24. Curtailment of Service for Gas Supply Deficiency:

A. Determination of Need for Curtailment:

When the Company determines (subject to review by the Commission) that its supply of gas may diminish to the point where continuous service to its customers is threatened, the Company shall have the right to curtail the distribution of gas to all customers in its system, irrespective of the contracts in force, in accordance with the provisions of this rule.

B. Method of Curtailment

Curtailment of gas service hereunder shall be imposed in a uniform manner in accordance with the end use to be made of the gas, with the lowest priority use being curtailed first. For purposes of curtailment, the following categories of use are hereby established, of which Category Six constitutes the lowest priority use and Category One the highest priority use:

CATEGORY ONE

Residential gas requirements, commercial gas requirements having a maximum day requirement of less than 50 MCF, requirements for services essential for public health and safety, and requirements for plant protection.

CATEGORY TWO

Commercial gas requirements having a maximum day requirement of less than 300 MCF, industrial gas requirements having a maximum day requirement of less than 300 MCF, and industrial gas requirements for feedstock and process needs.

CATEGORY THREE

Commercial and industrial gas requirements not specified in Categories One, Two, Three, Four, Five or Six.

CATEGORY FOUR

Commercial and industrial gas requirements for boiler fuel use having a maximum day requirement of 300 MCF to 1,500 MCF.

CATEGORY FIVE

Commercial and industrial gas requirements for boiler fuel use having a maximum day requirement of 1,500 MCF to 3,000 MCF.

CATEGORY SIX

Commercial and industrial gas requirements for boiler fuel use having a maximum day requirement of 3,000 MCF or more.

The total curtailment shall equal the estimated deficiency of gas brought about by the demands of all customers in the system of the Company as determined by the Company. Category Six will be curtailed first followed by Categories Five, Four, Three, Two and One. Curtailments may be simultaneously instituted in more than one category; provided, however, that no curtailment shall be made of gas volumes falling within any category during any period in which gas service continues in lower priority categories. When curtailment of less than 100 percent of the volume falling within a category is required, the volume to be curtailed shall be determined by the Company on a pro rata basis between affected customers using total base period volumes within that category.

Prior to or during the period of curtailment, curtailed customers may make written application to utilize the aggregate of any remaining volumes of natural gas not curtailed, for any end uses at any of their facilities within the Company's service area, provided that such use is not in violation of any existing contracts and delivery of such volumes is within the capability of the Company's facilities. If, after filing said application, a customer consumes more gas for a curtailed use than would otherwise be available, the volumes in excess of those otherwise available shall be billed at the rate or rates applicable to the use from which such gas is diverted.

C. Determination of Customer Consumption and Requirements:

For the purposes of determining the volume within each curtailment category, a fixed base period will be established as hereinafter set forth. This base period shall be twelve consecutive monthly consumptions selected from the 24 month period ending 18 months prior to the commencement of the first curtailment under this Rule No. 24. In those instances where the customer has encountered strikes, interruption of gas service or unavoidable operational abnormalities, the Company may make reasonable adjustments to normalize the customer's requirements. Base period volumes shall be adjusted for customer's or equipment added or deleted.

In determining monthly consumptions, the Company shall determine the gas used during each month of the 24-month period described above for all buildings, parts of buildings and equipment associated with each customer's gas billing in accordance with the Company's Rules and Regulations. Volumes specified in the curtailment categories shall apply in the aggregate for all equipment with the same end use rather than on a unit-of-equipment basis.

The monthly consumptions so determined, with such adjustments as provided above, shall then be divided by the number of billing days in each month to arrive at the various maximum day requirements specified in the curtailment categories. In determining a customer's curtailment category, the highest maximum daily requirement in the twelve-month period selected shall be used.

D. Certification:

At least 15 months prior to the beginning of the first curtailment under this Rule No. 24, the Company shall provide a form listing the 24 monthly consumptions from which the base period is selected, to each customer having at least one month's consumption in excess of 300 MCF on a maximum day during this period. Each such customer shall certify on this form its selection of the twelve-consecutive-month base period as described in Section C and the distribution of its monthly volumes by curtailment category as described in Section B. It is the responsibility of such customer to return the certification form to the Company within 60 days.

Upon receipt of the certification, the Company shall verify the accuracy of the response. Customers will be given an opportunity to review inconsistencies before the Company decides the proper curtailment category classification.

Should such customer fail to return the certification within 60 days, the Company shall establish the base period volumes and distribute such volumes by curtailment category in accordance with such information as may be available.

E. Notice of Curtailment:

The Company shall provide twelve months' advance written notice of curtailment under this rule to all customers to be curtailed, except when actions by governments preclude the giving of such notice. The notice will state the starting date, anticipated duration and expected level of curtailment. Prior to and during the period of curtailment, all customers affected thereby shall be given notice of 30 days setting forth the volumes of gas to which they will be entitled for the following month. In addition, each quarter the Company will provide a forecast to each affected customer of the Company's supply deficiency for the ensuing twelve-month period.

F. Rate Adjustments:

A customer shall not be liable for any part of a monthly service charge provided in a rate schedule if such customer's consumption under that rate is completely curtailed for the entire billing period. No other rate adjustments will be permitted.

G. Enforcement:

The Company reserves the right to inspect the customer's equipment, to install special metering, and to immediately terminate gas service for violations of this rule. Once gas service is terminated, the Company may withhold such service until it is satisfied that the terms and conditions of this rule will be observed.

H. Penalties for Violation:

Any gas used by a customer in excess of the volumes authorized during the period when a curtailment has been instituted pursuant to this rule shall be subject to excess use charges, with such charges being in addition to those normal charges made under the applicable rate schedules. Charges for such excess usage shall be equal to five times the applicable rate schedule commodity charge at the time of the excess use violation. Failure to pay an excess use charge when rendered shall subject the customer to termination of gas service.

I. Glossary:

The following terms used in this rule shall have the meanings hereinafter set forth:

- a) "Residential gas Requirements" shall include all direct natural gas usage for space heating, cooking, water heating, and other residential uses in a single family dwelling or in an individual flat or apartment; or to two or more households served by a single meter (one customer) in a multiple family dwelling, or a portion thereof. A "multiple family dwelling" includes such living facilities as, for example, cooperatives, condominiums and apartments, provided that each household within such multiple family dwelling has normal household facilities such as bathroom, individual cooking and kitchen sink. A "multiple family dwelling" does not include such living facilities as, for example, penal or corrective institutions, motels, hotels, dormitories, nursing homes, tourist homes, military barracks, hospitals, special care facilities or any other facilities primarily associated with the purchase, sale or supplying (for

- b) “Commercial gas requirements” shall include all service to customers engaged primarily in the furnishing or sale of goods or services, including schools, local, state and federal government agencies, and other public or private institutions for uses other than those involving manufacturing or electric power generation.
  - c) “Industrial gas requirements” shall include all service to customers engaged primarily in a process which creates or changes raw or unfinished materials into another form or product including the generation of electric power.
  - d) “Boilers” shall mean all closed vessels in which a liquid is heated or vaporized by the combustion of fuel for the generation of steam or hot liquid. The utilization of gas turbines for the generation of electricity shall be defined as a boiler.
  - e) “Feedstock gas” is natural gas used as a raw material for its chemical properties in creating an end product.
  - f) “Process gas” is natural gas used in appliances capable of burning only a gaseous fuel so as to utilize those combustion characteristics of gaseous fuels such as complete combustion, safe combustion products, flame geometry, ease of temperature control to precise levels, and optimum safety of heat application. Specifically excluded are boilers, gas turbines, space heating equipment (other than direct fired air make-up heaters for process purposes) and indirect air heaters.
  - g) “Alternate fuel capability” means that an alternate fuel could have been utilized whether or not the facilities for such use have actually been installed or the alternate fuel is available; provided, however, that where the use of natural gas is for plant protection and the only alternate fuel is propane or other gaseous fuel, then the customer will be treated as having no alternate fuel capability.
  - h) “Requirements for service essential for public health and safety” shall mean gas purchased for food processing; for use by or in connection with hospitals, convalescent homes, nursing homes, medical centers and clinics; water and sewage treatment and waste disposal facilities; civil defense centers and public utility buildings; newspapers, radio and television stations; fire stations; police stations, jails and penal institutions; and for such other uses of gas as are found qualified by the Commission as requirements for services essential for public health and safety; provided, however, that requirements for boilers which have alternate fuel capability shall not qualify as requirements for services essential for public health and safety without the express authorization of the Commission after hearing.

- i) “Requirements for plant protection” shall mean such minimum volumes of gas as required to prevent physical harm to the plant facilities or danger to plant personnel when such protection cannot be afforded through the use of an alternate fuel. This includes the protection of such material in process as would otherwise be destroyed, but shall not include deliveries required to maintain plant production. For the purposes of this definition, propane and other gaseous fuels shall not be considered alternate fuels.

25. Centrally Metered Installations:

A. For purposes of this rule, a centrally metered installation is one that meets all of the following conditions:

- 1) The installation is served by a single meter set assembly. “Meter set assembly” means the piping and fittings which are installed to connect the inlet side of the meter to the gas service line, and to connect the outlet side of the meter to the customer’s fuel line.
- 2) The fuel lines are buried underground from the central meter set assembly to the location at which each fuel line enters each customer’s building or mobile home at its outside wall.
- 3) (i) Where the complex consists of buildings, two or more separate buildings such as apartments, multiple family dwellings, dormitories or similar buildings are supplied with gas and at least two buildings so supplied contained four or more living units, or
(ii) Where the complex consists of mobile homes, four or more mobile homes used as living units are supplied with gas.

B. The Company will not furnish gas service to any centrally metered installation, except to a centrally metered installation that meets all of the following conditions:

- 1) The installation was substantially in place prior to April 29, 1974.
- 2) Title to the fuel lines from the central meter set assembly to the location at which each fuel line enters the building or mobile home is transferred to and vested in the Company.
- 3) Arrangements satisfactory to the Company are made, in suitable written agreements, under which the Company has exclusive maintenance and

26. Testing of Meters:

A. Pre-installation Inspections and Tests:

A meter or associated metering device not included as a part of the meter, or both, shall be inspected and tested before being placed in service, and the error shall not be more than 1.0%. Alternatively, methods of sample testing acceptable to the Commission may be used.

B. As Found Tests:

A meter or associated metering device, or both, shall be tested after it is removed from service. Such tests shall be made before the meter or associated metering device, or both, is adjusted, repaired, or retired.

C. Leak Tests:

A repaired meter or a meter that is removed from service shall be leak-tested before being returned to service. If tested in the field, a meter shall be tested at the actual operating pressure of the system. If tested in the shop, a meter that will operate at normal residential utilization pressure shall be subjected to an internal pressure test of not less than 3 p.s.i.g. and any meter that will operate above normal residential utilization pressure shall be so marked on the meter and shall be subjected to an internal pressure test of not less than the manufacturer's rated operating pressure or any suitable test approved by the Commission. During the pressure test the meter shall be checked for leaks by an immersion test, or by the soap test, or by a pressure-drop test of a type acceptable to the Commission.

D. Requested Tests:

The Company shall test meter accuracy upon request of a customer, if the customer does not request a test more than once every two years, and if the customer agrees to accept the results of the test as the basis for determining the difference claimed. No charge shall be made to the customer for the first test in any five-year period, but if subsequent tests during the same period, for the same customer, show the meter to be within the allowable limits of accuracy, the Company may charge the customer for subsequent tests an

E. Periodic Tests:

The Company shall make periodic tests of meters, associated devices, and instruments to insure their accuracy, according to the following schedule, unless the Commission shall otherwise authorize:

- (1) Positive displacement diaphragm-type meters with capacities of 500 CFH and under—10 years
- (2) Positive displacement diaphragm-type meters with capacities over 500 CFH—7 years
- (3) Other meter types, such as proportional, rotary, and turbine, which may be tested in place when possible—2 years
- (4) Orifice meters—6 months
- (5) Gas instruments, such as base volume, base pressure, and base temperature correcting devices, shall be removed and checked for calibration at intervals corresponding to the schedule for their associated meters, and shall be checked for calibration in place at intervals of not more than—2 years.
- (6) Test bottles, 1 cubic foot—10 years.
- (7) Dead weight testers—10 years.
- (8) Certified test meter—10 years.
- (9) Meter testing systems shall be calibrated when first installed and following alterations, damages, or repairs, which might affect accuracy. To assure that the accuracy of a meter testing system is maintained on a continuous basis, a daily leakage test shall be made and a weekly accuracy test with a comparison meter of known accuracy shall be made. If the test results differ by more than plus or minus 0.5% from the comparison meter, the cause of the error shall be determined and necessary corrections shall be made prior to re-use of the system. The comparison meter shall be checked at an interval of—1 month.

B. Amount of Adjustment:

If the date the error in registration began cannot be determined, it shall be assumed that the error existed since the meter was last installed on the present premises.

Recalculation of bills shall be made on the basis of actual monthly consumption, if possible. Otherwise, an average monthly consumption determined from the most recent 36 months' consumption data shall be used.

C. Refund:

Refunds shall be made to the 2 most recent customers who received service through the meter found to be in error; however, the period shall not exceed 6 months. If the recalculation of billing for an existing customer, or for a previous customer no longer a customer of the Company, indicates that the amount of the refund due such existing or previous customer is equal to, or in excess of, an average of 10 cents per month for the recalculated billing period, the full amount of the refund shall be made, except that no refund less than $1.00 need be made to an existing customer and no refund less than $2.00 need be made to a previous customer who is no longer a customer of the Company.

Any re-billing policy adopted by the Company based on minimum amounts in excess of those set forth in paragraph C of this rule shall be uniformly applied to all customers.
